LANGUAGE LEARNING SOFTWARE @ YOUR LIBRARY

Batavia, OH – The Clermont County Public Library (CCPL) is excited to offer Rosetta Stone, the number one language learning software in the world. The software will be available beginning September 1, 2007.

“We acquired Rosetta Stone in response to customer requests,” says Holly Varley, Collection Development Manager. “It’s the language learning database that customers ask for by name.” Rosetta Stone currently offers courses in thirty languages, but due to budget constraints the library will only offer five of these languages — Arabic, Chinese, French, Latin American Spanish, and English for ESL speakers (English as a Second Language).

You can access the database at any CCPL branch. Library cardholders may also access the database from their home computer using their library card number to login. Shockwave plug in is required.

For more information about Rosetta Stone or other available library databases stop by your local CCPL branch or visit www.clermontlibrary.org.

About Rosetta Stone

Rosetta Stone is a revolutionary language-learning program acclaimed for the speed, power and effectiveness of its Dynamic Immersion method. Teaching 30 languages to millions of people in more than 150 countries throughout the world, Rosetta Stone is the key to language-learning success. Inc. Magazine recently named Rosetta Stone one of the 500 fastest-growing companies in the United States, and for the third year Deloitte and Touche has named it one of the fastest-growing technology companies in Virginia. The company was founded in 1992 on two core beliefs: that the natural way people learn languages as children remains the most successful method for learning new languages; and that interactive CD-ROM and online technology can replicate and activate that immersion method powerfully for learners of any age. The company is based in Harrisonburg, VA. For more information, visit www.RosettaStone.com.

The Clermont County Public Library strives to provide innovative access to information and services that stimulate the diverse educational, informational, and recreational needs and interests of the community. Further, the library seeks to be an integral part of the community in cooperation with other community organizations.
