LIBRARY CUSTOMERS DESIGN BOOKMARKS

Batavia, Ohio- Now available at the Clermont County Public Library (CCPL), one-of-a-kind, customer-designed bookmarks! In conjunction with TV Turnoff Week, the library hosted a bookmark design contest. The contest ran April 23-29, 2007.

Library users of all ages were invited to submit their designs for consideration. The entries were split into two categories, youth and adult submissions. Sara Schwanekamp's design was selected for the youth category, while Bobbi Springer's design was chosen to represent the adult category. Each winner received a $25 Michaels gift card. The winning bookmarks will be printed and available at all ten branches in Clermont County.

TV Turnoff Week is organized each year by the Center for Screen-Time Awareness. According to their website, <http://www.tvturnoff.org/>, their mission is to “provide information so people can live healthier lives in functional families in vibrant communities by taking control of the electronic media in their lives, not allowing it to control them.”
